

nice

not so nice

that's why there's Rice.

Rice.

More than film:

The designers palette.

Rice paper is just one of the dozens of glass enhancement films available from LLumar. Designers and architects can choose from geometric and dot matrix patterns, swirls, stripes, solids...or create their own graphics or logos.

In addition to a full complement of pattern options, there are dozens of film colors and textures from which to choose. And, translucent, opaque or blackout films complete your palette of design options.

AN ALTERNATIVE to expensive etched glass, Rice paper and its companion films have been successfully incorporated onto glass surfaces at retail and corporate locations, restaurants, hotels, and residences...virtually everywhere glass enhancement is possible. And, the possibilities are as vast as your imagination.

PROFESSIONALLY INSTALLED, the films are easily changed when storefront windows need redressing... when a new tenant moves in... or when a new interior renovation or color scheme has been chosen.

Just as your clients look to you for quality design solutions, you can rely on your Llummar dealer to work closely with you to explain the vast design options within the designers' palette. For a free estimate and/or design consultation, contact your local Llummar dealer.

To find a dealer near you, go to www.llumar.com or call: 1-800-2LLUMAR

ABOUT THE MANUFACTURER

CPFilms Inc., is the largest manufacturer of window film in the world.

CPFilms Inc., is a wholly-owned subsidiary of SOLUTIA Inc. and is an ISO 9001 Certified Facility.

LLumar® products are registered trademarks of CPFilms Inc., a unit of Solutia.

©2005 CPFilms Inc., Martinsville, VA
800.255.8627 www.llumar.com